

The Creation of Kunzang Khang

In Remembrance of Project Manager Grover Overstreet

Enjoy these photos of Kunzang Khang, the beautifully designed multipurpose building at Serenity Ridge Retreat Center, headquarters of Ligmincha International. We also share a few sangha memories in remembrance of Grover Overstreet, who was the project manager on the construction of Kunzang Khang, which took place over a year and a half period. He passed away from cancer on September 1.

The completed Kunzang Khang (House of All Goodness). Photo by Vickie Walter.

Named Kunzang Khang (House of All Goodness) by Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche, the building was completed in April 2018. A special blessing and ribbon-cutting ceremony was held with many in attendance to celebrate: students, neighbors, lamas, local Tibetan residents and project manager Grover Overstreet, along with others who worked under his supervision.

Grover Overstreet, project manager for construction of Kunzang Khang. Photo by Brian Harris.

Early sketch of building with color.

Grover and Rinpoche with April 2017 plans

Excavation of building foundation.

Initial construction. July 2017

Views from the side and the back of Kunzang Khang. Photos by Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche.

Views from the side and the back of Kunzana Khang. Photos by Tenzin Wanaal Rinpoche.

Ribpoochauting by regulars Rob Patzig, Khenpo Ngawang Dorjee and Tenzin Wangyal Rinpoche.

Ribbon-cutting ceremony with Ernie Patzig, Khenpo Ngawang Dorjee and Tenzin Wangyal

Massachusetts Buddhist Center project manager Grover Overstreet and building designer John

Ki Ki So So ha Gya Photo by Polly Turner

Photo by Melissa Katz

Photo by Maria Quintana